The Meaning of English Modifier-Noun Combinations: An Interpretative Model and its Application to Ellipsis and Accretion
Table of contents

Preface 7

1. Introduction
  1.1. The objectives and subject matter of the thesis 9
  1.2. The theoretical framework 9
  1.3. The material 9
  1.4. The organization of the thesis 10

2. The theoretical framework 11
  2.1. General linguistic assumptions 11
    2.1.1. Cognitivism 11
    2.1.2. Experientialism 12
    2.1.3. Modularism 12
  2.2. Semantic and pragmatic assumptions 13
    2.2.1. Lexical and structural meaning 14
    2.2.2. Lexical meanings as conceptual reference points 15
    2.2.3. The Principle of Relevance as a constraint on interpretation 16

3. The meaning of modifier-noun combinations 18
  3.1. A statement of the problem 18
  3.2. Previous approaches 19
    3.2.1. The semantics of adjectives 19
    3.2.2. The meaning of modifier-noun combinations 20
      3.2.2.1. Nominal compounds 21
      3.2.2.2. Denominal adjectives 22
      3.2.2.3. Nondenominal adjectives 23
  3.3. An external, logical solution 25
    3.3.1. Nonpredicative extensional modifiers 26
    3.3.2. Nonextensional affirmative modifiers 27
    3.3.3. Privative modifiers 29
    3.3.4. The significance of the modifier-noun interpretive formula 30
  3.4. An internal, conceptual solution 31
    3.4.1. The semantic structure of nouns and adjectives 32
    3.4.2. The composition of modifier and noun meanings 34
    3.4.3. The relation variable 36
    3.4.4. The range variable 37
    3.4.5. The dimension variable 37
    3.4.6. The shift variable 39
    3.4.7. Constraints on amalgamation 41
4. Ellipsis and accretion in modifier-noun combinations 42
   4.1. A statement of the problem 42
      4.1.1. Ellipsis 42
      4.1.2. Accretion 42
      4.1.3. The problem 44
      4.1.4. The data 45
   4.2. Previous approaches 46
   4.3. The causes of ellipsis and accretion 48
      4.3.1. Conditions for ellipsis/accretion 49
      4.3.2. The causes of ellipsis and accretion 52
   4.4. The directionality of ellipsis/accretion 54

5. Conclusion 58
   5.1. A summary of the results 58
      5.1.1. Interpretation of modifier-noun combinations 58
      5.1.2. Accretion 59
      5.1.3. Explanation of ellipsis and accretion 59
         5.1.3.1. Causes of ellipsis/accretion 60
         5.1.3.2. Direction of ellipsis/accretion 60
   5.2. Concluding remarks 60
   5.3. Prospects for extensions of the results 60
      5.3.1. Other combinations 61
      5.3.2. Other languages 61

Appendix 63

References 71